TRACK PROSPECTS FAIR.

Excellent Schedule Arranged.

While track prospects are fairly encouraging, they would be much more so if a larger squad of men than the present one reported for practice. There is room for new talent in all the events, particularly in the sprints, to which event only Goldstein, '19, and Mitchell, '18, are paying great attention. It seems probable that the Blue and Gold will be strongest fortified in the weights, and jumps. Easland, '18, Lambert, '16, Churchill, '16, Hyland, '19, and Woolley, '17, are men who promise much in the weight events; Bjorn, '18; Nelson, '18, Easland, '18, Morris, '16, loom up strongest in the jumps.

With Captain Crehore, '16, W. B. George, '16, Johnson, '16, Macrum, '17, and Williams, '19, available, the distance events should also be well looked after.

Goldstein, '19, Rock, '17, and Fenton, '17, are the most promising candidates for the 440; and Perkins, '15, and Shultheiss, '18, for the hurdles. The pole-vaulters are Cole, '16, Maxon, '16, and Jarvis, '19.

Coach Harmon requires that the captain of the several fraternity relay teams shall be appointed and made known to him by Thursday of this week at the latest. A cup will be given the winning intramural relay team, this to be paid for by the college body.

The alumni are contributing the money for the plaques which will be given to the men who are first and second in each set in the indoor armory meets. These plaques consist of a bronze shield set in an oak background, the size being about eight by six inches. The shield will bear the college coat-of-arms. Below it will be a gold plate for first place men, and a silver plate for those who win second places. This plate will bear the names of the donor of the plaque and of the recipient, together with the name of the event.

The ratified schedule as announced by Manager J. B. Barnwell, '17, is as follows:

- April 1, 8, 15—Inter-class Meets, State Armory.
- May 6—M. A. C., Trinity Field.
- May 13—Boston College, Trinity Field.
- May 19, 20—New England Intercollegiates, Springfield.
- May 27—Hamilton, Clinton, N. Y.

LECTURE BY COLUMBIA PROFESSOR.

Friday evening, March 31, in the Public Speaking Room, at 8 o'clock, Professor Hays of Columbia will address the college body on "My Country; Right or Wrong."

Immediately after Professor Hays' address an informal smoker will be held in his honor at 84 Vernon Street. All members of the college are cordially invited to come and meet him.

NILES WINS WHITLOCK PRIZE.

Shultheiss Takes Second Honors.

Friday evening, March 24, the annual competition for the Whitlock Prizes was held in the Public Speaking Room. E. Abbe Niles, '16, won the first prize with a speech on "The Joy of Life," and Melville Shultheiss, '18, took second place with a speech on "The Commission Form of Municipal Government." A broader education, a study of fine arts and a return to the classics were emphasized by Mr. Niles as a means of gaining the true joys and pleasures in life. He assailed the narrow-minded, materialistic view which the present age has as an outlook upon life.

Mr. Shultheiss, in arguing for the commission form of government, dwelt upon its advantages, its tendency to do away with party politics, and financial saving to the tax-payers. As examples he referred to cities which have become prominent through the use and utility of this form of government—Galveston and Houston, Texas, and Des Moines, Iowa.

The Frank W. Whitlock Prizes were founded by a legacy of Mrs. L. C. Whitlock, of Great Barrington, Mass., and by her direction bear the name of her son, who was a graduate in the class of 1870. Four students, including those to whom the Alumni Prizes in English Composition have been awarded, will deliver their themes in public in competition for the Whitlock Prizes. In determining the award, regard is taken both to composition and to delivery.

The other contestants were R. B. O'Connor, '16, and A. Haase, '19. C. B. Gray, '16, who won the first alumni English prize, did not compete.

The judges were Judge Walter H. Clark, Rev. Dr. John B. Voorhees, and Mr. A. A. Welsh.

A LECTURE ON SALESMANSHIP.

Mr. Clayton W. Welles, general manager of the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Co., spoke the first hour Monday morning to the English I classes on "Salesmanship" with reference to applying for a position. He said that true salesmanship was a transfer of goods resulting in a mutual profit. Just so when one applies for a position, he must make the employer see that he has something to give which will be profitable to both parties.

In applying for a position by letter, Mr. Welles dwelt upon the five C's of letter-writing—the five fundamental things to include in a letter of application. These five fundamental things are correctness, conciseness, clearness, courteousness, and characteristicness. He divided these five C's into smaller divisions to illustrate his point.

Mr. Welles interested the class by reading several extracts from letters written by the classes, showing their faults and virtues. Several of the letters Mr. Welles submitted to a handwriting expert. The character deductions made by this expert excited considerable interest when read by Mr. Welles.

ENDORSES MILITARY CAMPS.

Secretary of War Expresses Approval.

On March 16, President H. S. Drinker of Lehigh University, as Chairman of the Governing Committee of the Military Training Camps Association, in company with Grenville Clark, Esq., Secretary, and J. L. Derby, Esq., Treasurer of the Association, conferred with the Hon. Newton D. Baker, Secretary of War, in regard to the camps. Mr. Baker expressed unqualified approval of them, and handed Dr. Drinker a letter of which the following is a copy:

War Department,
Washington.

March 16, 1916.

To the Governing Committee of the Military Training Camps Association of the United States.

Gentlemen:

I heartily approve and endorse the valuable and patriotic service that is being rendered to the country by the army training camps for civilians.

I believe in the work of these camps, not only from the military point of view, but as of value to the nation educationally in promoting discipline, order and good citizenship. The camps are exactly in line with the sound policy of reliance upon a citizenry trained to arms as our main safeguard for defense.

I appreciate highly the services rendered by the university presidents and civilian committees who are forwarding this movement.

These camps were originated by the War Department in 1913 for the training of students, and have been since extended for the benefit of other citizens, with gratifying results.

You may rest assured that in continuing your work of developing and promoting these camps on a national scale you will have the continued co-operation and support of the War Department.

Yours most sincerely,
NEWTON D. BAKER,
Secretary of War.

NOTICE TO BASEBALL CANDIDATES.

Until it is possible to get out-of-doors, throwing and running must be practiced in the gymnasium at hours which will not inconvenience the gym. classes. (No one will be taken on the southern trip, who from this date neglects practice.)

HELP THE IVY.

Again the Ivy Board makes the appeal that men hand in articles, drawings, jokes, cartoons, snapshots, etc. If the book is to be a success and is to have a personal interest for every one, each individual must do his share and make some contribution.

Part of the book is already in the printer's hands, and the rest is to be sent soon. Therefore, it is essential, if articles are to be used, that they be handed in this week.

Help the Ivy! Hand in your contribution!

"NOW THEN TRINITY"

Thus far only three units have definitely signified their intention of entering a team in the inter-fraternity relay races. Unless more come forward the plan will fall through from lack of competition. It will be regrettable if such is the case.

The races would prove a source of stimulation to the fraternities as well as to track athletics.

Perhaps another word on the subject of interclass meets in general will not be out of place here. The first will be held next Saturday in the Armory. Liberal handicaps will be given so that the most inexperienced men will have a chance with the veterans. Medals are to be awarded. If track is to continue as a major sport at Trinity it is imperative that the undergraduate body enthusiastically support the project. To break the long string of defeats in this branch of athletics, the preliminary meets must develop new men. If the latter refuse to cooperate further humiliation may be expected.

Today the official inter-collegiate schedule is announced. It is a stiff one but a clean slate of Trinity victories is not impossible. Everything depends on the way the men take part in the ante-season contests. If four or five good men uncover track ability, and in all likelihood they will do so, in the handicap meets, Trinity will have an excellent team. It must be remembered that talent is brought out by competition. No one knows what he can do until he tries. Next Saturday is a fine time to begin.

Not only is a large field of entrants desirable, but a goodly number of spectators should be on hand. A man can perform better before an audience. It is an opportunity for the whole college body to show whether interest in track is dead or merely latent. If fraternities and individuals help, Trinity may disprove the statement that "they never come back."

There is one problem which the students of Trinity College have never been able to solve. Why do the radiators steam so merrily as soon as the weather turns warm? They appear to hibernate during the icy spells.

INTERCOLLEGIATE NOTES.

In the campaign for increased endowment at Carroll College recently, the students gave $6,500 and the faculty $5,000.

Coöperative book stores, honor traditions, student courts, eligibility rules, campus conservation, relations toward athletics and other student activities, student health service and more efficient Student Councils are some of the many phases of university life and student social service that will be discussed by the representatives of the Big Nine Students' Councils, who held their second annual meeting at the Ohio Union February 18 and 19.

At the University of Nebraska nearly 600 men have entered classes in military preparedness. Movements, rifle practice, sighting and other regulations are discussed.

Students in music at Milton recently enjoyed a Victrola presentation of "Tannhauser."

Ripon College has successfully completed an endowment campaign for $300,000.

The freshman class of an English University consists of one Englishman, one American and one Indian. Athletics in most colleges have been abandoned and many of the athletes have gone to the front.

Syracuse University is to have the largest athletic arena in America, its stadium covering six and one-third acres. It will have a normal seating capacity of 20,000, which can be increased to 40,000. The stadium will cover more ground than the famous Yale "bowl."

President King of Oberlin announced in chapel that he had received a gift of $100,000 from an unknown person for the theological seminary.

The Y. W. C. A. service at Carroll is held on Wednesday during chapel hour, and is counted as chapel attendance. This hour was chosen by the two Christian Associations in order to make the meetings of All-College interest by relating them to all-college work.

At the University of Wisconsin the average of the marks received by women was 83.69, and that of the men was 81.23.

Mike Dorizas, of the University of Pennsylvania, set up a wonderful record before he retired from college wrestling. During his college career he threw twenty college rivals in exactly 23 minutes, 16 seconds.

The issue of the Tiger, a Colorado College publication, was turned over to the Irishmen and the engineers on St. Patrick's Day. The entire issue was printed in green.

Fordham University has begun the construction of a $100,000 gymnasium. The New York College will also have a splendid outdoor equipment for students to better themselves in football, baseball, track, tennis, handball, and other sports. The cornerstone of the new structure will be laid during commencement day in May, when the 75th anniversary of the founding of the college will be celebrated.

Reg. Murray, the famous broad jumper of Leland Stanford University, has succeeded Rio Templeton as captain of the college track team. Templeton quit college because of an eye affliction.

The University of Texas beat Rice Tuesday, March 21, in the first college baseball game of the season by the score of 4 to 1.

TRINITY ATHLETES IN NONATHLON.

Contest Brings out Keen Competition.

An observant bystander might have noticed a mysterious group of students entering the gymnasium last Saturday afternoon. He might also have observed that they were headed by J. G. N. Mitchell, '16, attired in a neat, form-fitting blue jersey, with a gold "1916" emblazoned on his ample bosom, and a pair of natty blue track pantalettes, revealing the perfect parabola of his limbs. Close behind him was F. Joseph Bloodgood, '18, in a bathrobe evidently modelled after that of the original Biblical Joseph. From the appearance of these two athletes and their followers, our observer might easily have deduced that a contest of some sort was about to take place; but it would have taken Sherlock Holmes himself to discern that the event was none other than a Nonathlon!

Let us assume that our spectator had an average amount of curiosity, and mingled with the eager students.

In reply to his questions, the youth beside him says that a Nonathlon is a track meet of nine events—a word discovered in an ancient manuscript by Mr. Mitchell, and invented by the Celts, under the influence of Scotch. The contestants in this interesting meet are the inhabitants of 12 Jarvis; the winner is to receive the privilege of wearing "12 J.H." on his sweater, and a large gold medal for the watch chain. The nine events are to be run off on the installment plan, and the first four, about to take place. Furthermore, to secure an audience, twenty men were appointed judges, of whom the five or six spectators are some.

As the contestants ran nimbly out upon the floor, a spontaneous series of "Short Trins" burst forth from the judges, which the athletes acknowledged with becoming modesty. The jumping standards were set up, whereas a discussion ensued: Mitchell claiming that in all good meets, the height was at first set at three feet, and Bloodgood protesting that this would be unfair, as he couldn't jump so high. The judges ruled Mitchell right, and Bloodgood proved that his statement was right. Score: Mitchell 1; Bloodgood 0.

The Hundred-Yard Dash followed. Who was the winner was a much-mooted question, as the judges were all engaged in watching Judge Hyland do the back circle; but finally Judge J. N. Ives awarded it to Mitchell, and the others supported him. Score: Mitchell 2; Bloodgood 0.

YALE SENIORS HOLD ANNUAL STATISTICAL VOTE.

The expense of a college education at Yale to the 325 members of the class of 1916 has amounted to $1,087,564, according to the statistical blanks which have just been made out. The greatest sum spent by a single man during the four years of the college course is $15,000, and the least is $800. The average cost per man was $4,073. One hundred and twenty seniors have worked their way through college either partly or entirely. The sum of the earnings of the class is $306,979.

The probable future occupations of the senior class are as follows: Law, 70; Mercantile Business, 68; Manufacturing, 37; Education, 21; Journalism, 10; Art, 10; Ministry, 9; Engineering, 8; Business, 6; Science, 6; Agriculture, 4; Architecture, 2; Real Estate and Insurance, 2; Broker, 1; Foreign Service, 1; Telephone, 1; Grocer, 1; Publishing, 7; Music, 7; Undecided, 19.

The vote as to the hardest year resulted as follows: Freshman year, 158; Sophomore, 55; Senior, 39; Junior, 29. The senior year was considered the pleasantest by a vote of 195, while the Junior year, which was second in number of votes, received only 57.

No member of the class had been in all of the states; the average number of states visited was 18. One hundred and twelve men have been abroad. The fathers of 65 of the 325 seniors were Yale graduates, while the fathers of 110 had been graduated from some college. The votes on the favorite college after Yale were as follows: Princeton, 122; Harvard, 63; Williams, 41; Cornell, 10; Amherst, 5; Wesleyan, 4.

Two hundred and thirty-five members of the class of 1916 use tobacco. One hundred and forty men use alcoholic liquor, of whom 54 have taken it up at Yale. Of the 134 men who wear glasses, 35 have had to start since they came to college. Fifty-eight men have voted. Twenty-one seniors have "Y's", while 49 have their class numerals. The average number of seniors with whom each member of the class is acquainted is 35.

The statistics of the religious sects of the class are as follows: Episcopal, 86; Presbyterian, 52; Congregational, 38; Catholic, 19; Baptist, 13; Jew, 12; Methodist, 9; Lutheran, 5; Agnostic, 2; Methodist Episcopal, 2; Dutch Reformed, 2; Buddhist, 2; Anglican, 1; Society of Friends, 1; Unitarian, 1; Mormon, 1; Atheist, 7.

For the Shot Put, mats were placed twenty feet from the ring. The judges feared that Mitchell was injuring the floor in his efforts to reach the mats, and so awarded it to Bloodgood. Score: Mitchell 2; Bloodgood 1.

The contest ended with the Quarter Mile. Bloodgood, with gigantic leaps and Herculean bounds, led for the first five laps, but on the sixth, Mitchell, with an almost superhuman effort, passed him, and won by half a length.

The score up to date is 3 to 1. Although odds are given 5 to 1 against Bloodgood, his supporters are not downcast. Interest is rife at the Hill College, and all are breathlessly awaiting the final outcome. The date of the next contest has not as yet been announced; it may be held at the State Armory, as our Gym. can accommodate only a few hundred spectators.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

The first thing you'll notice about Tuxedo is the rich, mellow-sweet Burley flavor. And the best thing about it is the on-your-toes snap, and brisk, bracing hustle you get out of it.

"Tux" will smoke out that tobacco-hunger as no other tobacco can, and you can smoke pipeful after pipeful with never a fear—the original Tuxedo Process removes every trace of harshness and "bite".

Get a tin of "Tux" and try it for yourself.
